The Charaton is not only fully accessible as standard, it's elegant, stylish and comfortable.

With its rustic design features mixed with modern touches and conveniences, this is quite literally, everything you could look for in a home. Thoughtfully designed & intelligently built it's the perfect blend of class and sophistication, without costing the earth. This home makes sense both economically and environmentally.

The exterior is clad in eco-friendly Thermowood, laid vertically creating height and density. External frames are dark grey ensuring a modern twist to the natural timber and a visually pleasing finish. Internally it uses a clever combination of reclaimed timber and red brick details creating a hand crafted, well-loved and tranquil environment.

The home floor plan is well thought out ensuring plenty of space for wheelchair users and offering spacious communal areas. With the spirit of exploration & relaxation in mind at inception of this home, there are clever uses of spaces for storage and seating everywhere you look. The living room features two comfortable two seater sofas with a beautiful accent chair; all perfectly framing the practical reclaimed coffee table and feature, warming fireplace. This home is exactly as described, a place to get away, switch off, and enjoy the simpler aspects of life. It's almost contradicting features have been so thoroughly considered that they tie in with the old cliché, opposites attract.
